MANY ITEMS OF INTEREST

Gleaned From Various Sources—
Little Points Picked Up By Vigilant Reporters.

Simon H. Karns' public sale will be held near Clearville on Thursday, October 31, at 9 o'clock a. m. instead of 12 o'clock as formerly intended.

George Edward Close of Hyndman and Grace Luella Oster of Bedford were granted a marriage license in Cumberland last week.

The first number of the B. H. S. Alumni course will be held next Friday evening, when the Weatherwax Brothers will give an entertainment.

Rev. Edward Franklin Reimer, former pastor of Bedford Presbyterian Church, was installed pastor of the Marietta Presbyterian Church on Wednesday.

The record of Hon. John T. Matt in the last session of the Legislature is an open book. He kept his every pledge, and he merits the support of the voters of the county.

We were informed this week that Dr. Gamble is a resident of St. Clairsville, instead of Osterburg, as was stated in our Osterburg letter last week.

On account of the excessive demand upon our space we were compelled to omit a number of communications and other articles this week. They will appear next week.

Rev. J. Albert Eyer, pastor of St. John's Reformed Church, is in attendance at the meeting of Potomac Synod at Mercersburg this week. He is accompanied by Elder Daniel W. Beam.

Marriage licenses were issued in Harrisburg this week to Howard D. Guyer of Altoona and Ada G. Gochour of Imler and David M. Replogle of Drab and Sue Whetstone of New Enterprise.

In addition to those mentioned in The Gazette last week who attended the Hagerstown Fair were Mrs. H. H. Lysinger and son Ross, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mock and daughter Lillian, Charles Nagler, Jr., and William E. Beam.

Hon. William H. Berry was State Treasurer a few years ago and the voters will remember that it was he who made possible the exposure of the capitol graft and caused grafters to be sent to prison. Is he not worthy of election? Think it over.

A very important meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be held at the home of Miss J. Constance Tate, South Juliana Street, Tuesday evening, October 29, at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Persons who have purchased season tickets for the B. H. S. Alumni Star Course can have them marked after 8:30 o'clock Monday morning, October 28, at Dull's drug store. No tickets will be marked before this time.

At Harrisburg on Tuesday Col. Joseph B. Hutchinson, Harrisburg, was re-elected Colonel of the 8th Infantry, N. G. P.; Maurice E. Finney, Major of 1st Battalion was elected Lieutenant Colonel and Capt. George B. Corbin, Co. F, Huntingdon, was elected Major to succeed Mr. Finney. Company L of Bedford belongs to this regiment.

A Political Goose: There are a few fellows in old Bedford Town who are saying "Taft will not have one electoral vote." A man who believes that statement is a Political Goose, and a genuine Political Goose is a voter who reads only one newspaper—The Philadelphia North American—and swallows all the political hash in that unreliable paper.—George M. Mann.

The Church of God at Condale held a Rally last Sunday which was largely attended. The program published was carried out. The music furnished by the Chamberlain quartette, Defiance quartette and Misses Barton and Roarabaugh was of a fine quality. The addresses of Profs. Barney and Brumbaugh were very instructive. Prof. Barney showed the need of the Sunday School and gave an address which should have been heard by all those who fail to see the need of church work. The address of Prof. Brumbaugh was very practical and suggested many ways of improving the music of the Sunday School. Many other addresses were given. The Sunday School meets each Sunday at 9:30 a. m. W. H. Lewis is the superintendent and the school is in a flourishing condition.

The word being passed along the Republican line is, "Save the Legislature for Penrose."

Jacob C. Claar, a respected citizen of Kimmell Township, died on Friday, October 18, aged 76 years and four months.

He was a veteran of the Civil War and had been a lifelong member of the Church of the Brethren. He was always an active worker in the church and Sunday School.

He is survived by two sons, Austin and Joseph A., and one daughter, Mrs. Jeremiah Wright, Jr. His wife died in April, 1909. He is also survived by one brother, Samuel Claar of East Freedom, and two sisters, Mrs. Adam Black of Claysburg and Mrs. Maria Myers of Altoona.

Funeral services were conducted on Sunday in the Klahr Church by Rev. Dixon, his pastor. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery.

WILSON SURE WINNER

Prohibition Candidate Says Governor Will Carry 40 States.

Eugene W. Chafin, Presidential nominee of the Prohibition party, arrived in Baltimore a few days ago from a campaign tour, and declared that Governor or Wilson will carry forty states.

"His election is certain," said Mr. Chafin. "I have traveled the country and except in a few spots it is all for Wilson. Roosevelt will carry California and Washington, and probably Kansas and Colorado. Taft will carry Idaho, Wyoming and Utah. In Oregon the fight is between Roosevelt and Wilson. I think that Wilson will carry the Dakotas and every other state in the Union."

L. T. L. Lecturer Coming

Miss Grace Hendricks of Goulds, N. Y., State Lecturer and Organizer and Scientific Temperance Teacher in schools and colleges, will deliver lectures in Bedford County as follows: Saturday afternoon, November 2, she will deliver an address in the Legion room, Schellsburg, at 2 p. m.; give a stereopticon lecture at 7:30 p. m. and Sunday morning will fill M. E. pulpit at same place. On Sunday, November 3, she will speak at New Paris in the M. E. Church at 7:30 p. m. On Monday, November 4, she will address the schools at Fishertown and at 7:30 p. m. of same day give a stereopticon lecture in the Orthodox Church. On Tuesday, November 5, she will be in Bedford, arrangements to be given later. On Wednesday and Thursday, November 6 and 7, she will address schools at Hopewell during the day and Wednesday evening give a stereopticon lecture. Other dates will be announced later.

WEATHERWAX BROTHERS' QUARTET.

The Weatherwax Brothers' first public work was in the fall of '96, when they sang throughout northern Iowa in the notable McKinley campaign. They made such a hit everywhere that year that there was an immediate demand for them to do other public work.

This quartet, in addition to vocal music, also appears in a trumpet quartet which always brings forth the admiration of those who love rich, heroic music. Trumpets are comparatively seldom used on the Lyceum platform, and it is a treat to hear them when well played. The trumpets which they use were made specially for this quartet.

As to their vocal work, all four brothers have fine voices and have had

years of practice together, which has resulted in most excellent harmony. They have all been natural musicians from their infancy, and as some one has truly said, "Their voices have a decided family blend." A unique feature of this organization is that there are two readers in the company.

James Whitcomb Riley received the Weatherwax Brothers on the occasion of their first visit to Indianapolis most cordially. During their program, in connection with some of the Riley selections presented, the incident of their visit to the poet's home is related.

Weatherwax Brothers will give an entertainment in Assembly Hall, Friday night, November 1. Don't miss it.

Imler

October 23—Miss Pearl McConnell of Johnstown was a recent visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. Martin Grabbil.

Mrs. Elizabeth Imler, who has been confined to her bed with a broken limb, is improving rapidly and her many friends hope to see her out again soon.

J. S. Imler left on Tuesday on an extended visit to relatives in Ohio and Michigan.

The Imler Literary Society will meet Friday evening for the first regular session of this season. A fine program is being prepared.

Mrs. J. H. Roudabush and Miss Carrie Imler are attending a Sunday School Convention at Pleasant Valley, Bedford Township.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. David Deffenbaugh, a son. Mother and child are doing well.

On Saturday the Imler Blue-beards crossed bats with the King nine and quite an exciting game followed. The score by inning was as follows: King 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1 Imler 1 2 8 6 5 9 4 2—37 Batteries for King, Hengst and Shoemaker; batteries for Imler, Plummer and Imler.

If Mr. Wright and Mr. Hartman had secured the endorsement of the Washington party would our contemporary talk of candidates serving many masters?

GENERAL U. S. GRANT'S SON UPHOLDS WILSON AS A DUTY

"I Believe Principles for Which He Is Fighting Are Those for Which My Father Fought."

Jesse R. Grant, son of General Ulysses S. Grant, Commander in Chief of the Union Army in the Civil War and Republican President of the United States from 1869 to 1877, has declared for Wilson and Marshall. In an open letter he states his reasons as follows:

"We are facing the fifth of November issues of momentous importance to the future of the United States. Shall the old order of things continue? Shall our Government continue to be dominated by the thoughts, the desires and the interests of those who have been the principal beneficiaries of that Government's patronage? Or shall the power of Government be handed back to the whole people to be administered for their common good?"

Declares Issue Is Similar "It was a similar issue fifty-two years ago, when there arose from out of Illinois a new leader, who held human rights to be greater than property rights, whose thoughts were not the old thoughts, whose vision of justice had not been clouded by association with the ruling interests."

"We are at the threshold of a new period of transition. Shall the door be blocked by men who cannot see ahead? Shall we elect to follow men who, while clothed with official power, nurtured privilege and fostered monopoly, and who now propose nothing better than to legalize and regulate monopoly and make us live under it the rest of our lives?"

"Or shall we call to leadership a new man from the outside, from the ranks of the people, in sympathy with their lives and their ideals, holding their viewpoint, consecrated to their service? Such a man is Woodrow Wilson."

Sees Only One Duty "As a son of the soldier who fought to uphold the principles for which Abraham Lincoln stood, and as a son of a Republican President, I can see only one duty for myself—to give heartily my influence and my vote for principle and not for the name of a party long since divorced from its sympathy for the common man."

"Verily, I believe that the principles for which Woodrow Wilson is fighting are the principles for which my father fought, and that he alone among the Presidential candidates measures up to the standards of courage, conscience and capacity of the leader whose hand my father helped to uphold."

"Old voters, as well as new, I beg of you not to be deceived by names and prejudices. Open your minds to the truth and vote in its light."

P-NUT FACTORY CROWDED

Local Plant Unable to Fill Orders as Received.

Although H. C. Heckerman's P-Nut Factory is running night and day, employing about 125 people and paying out more than a thousand dollars a week in wages, the orders are piling up on the files.

This industry, due to the business ability and energy of Mr. Heckerman, means much to Bedford and this vicinity.

On Wednesday of this week the files showed the following orders on hand: Wrapped Kisses, 53,080 pounds; Iced P-Nut Brittle, 26,110; Plain Brittle, 32,600; P-Nut Squares, 63,055; Cocoanut Squares, 9,700; Fudge, 19,690; Molasses Nut Midges, 2,500; Hard Candy, Assorted Drops, 6,010; Cocoanut Brittle, 5,080; Pan Taffy, 1,830; P-Nut Gems and Buttercups, 1,500; Horehound Stick Candy, 6,470; Honey Comb Bar, 2,403; Iced Molasses Cocoanut Squares, 2,150; Rock Cuts, 3,360; After Dinner Mints, 4,460; Cocoa Bon Bons, 3,880; Mint Dice, 3,130; Home Made Candy P-Nuts, 5,160; Florida Drops, 1,790; Ribbon Mixed, 1,740; Assorted Lots, 3,465; Penny P-Nut Bar, (4,620 Boxes), 18,480; Penny Candies, (1622 Boxes), 5,168; Five Cent Stick Candy, (862 Boxes), 4,310; total, 287,221 pounds.

A vote for Wright is a vote for Reynolds, and a vote for Reynolds will be highly appreciated by Penrose. Be careful how you vote!

Marriage Licenses

Edward H. Swartz and Rhoda May Duck, both of Langdonale.

Edgar H. Hartle of King Township and Hattie May McDonald of Lincoln. Sheridan L. Ritchey of Breezewood and Elizabeth F. Detwiler of East Providence.

William C. May of Juniata and Bertha May Cunard of Harrison.

J. Russell Prosser of Braddock and Emma Kniseley of Alum Bank.

Touches From all Angles

We wish that every right-minded American citizen would find time to read the series of public utterances made by Governor Woodrow Wilson during the few months that have passed since he won his single-handed victory for popular government in re-generated New Jersey's memorable session of the State Legislature.

Entirely apart from politics, present and future, we count it no exaggeration to declare our opinion that no other American has approached more nearly to Jefferson and Lincoln in wonderful facility and felicity in stating the problems and their solutions, which tout real Americanism from every angle.—Philadelphia North American.

Thomas Gates

Thomas Gates, aged 21 years, of Kearney died at the Blair Memorial Hospital, Huntingdon, on Thursday, October 17, from a gunshot wound that penetrated his left lung. Harry Meek and Gates were out together Wednesday night and the shooting of a revolver which was thought to be empty resulted in the death.

Mrs. Polly Holmes

Mrs. Polly Holmes died at her home at Chehalis, Wash., on Monday, October 7, aged 89 years, one month and 15 days. She was born in Bedford and spent her girlhood days here. She was an aunt of our townsman, John A. Cessna. One adopted daughter survives.

The close relation of J. Anson Wright with Hon. John M. Reynolds and the fact that other aspirants for the nomination were told to "wait" by the boss of the annex easily leads the logical mind to the conclusion that Mr. Wright is the candidate of the "annex" and of the state Penrose Machine.

PROVE THIS PROPOSITION.

If You Can Do It You Are Entitled to a Prize of $25,000.

Five thousand pounds await the student who will prove a certain proposition proposed by the French mathematician, Fermat, about 250 years ago. This prize was offered about five years since and is to remain open to all comers for a century.

Professor G. A. Miller, who tells of it in a recent address on "Modern Mathematical Research," fears that such a large inducement may set all sorts of mediocre mathematicians to wasting their time.

The proposition to be proved is that the sum of no two powers except squares is itself a power of the same degree. Sums of squares are often squares—for instance, the square of 3 is 9 and that of 4 is 16. Add sixteen and 9 and you have 25, which is the square of 5. But this has never been found to be true for cubes or fourth powers or any powers above 2, and Fermat asserted that no such cases would or could ever be found.

He proved it, too—at least he said he had done so—but his proof is lost, and no one has ever recovered it or discovered another, although partial proofs have been found for definite powers—for instance, for those that are multiples of 3, 4, 5 and of certain prime numbers. Some of the world's greatest mathematicians have been working on this problem for many years.—London Sphere.

PHANTOM SHIPS.

Lost Vessels Whose Ghosts Are Said to Sail the Ocean.

The number of phantom ships is legion. Several of the vessels which were wrecked in close proximity to the scene of the Titanic disaster are even said to reappear in the same spot on certain occasions. The Packet Light is one of them, and the story runs that whenever a storm is threatened a ball of fire emerges from the spot where the ship sank, which presently forms itself into the shape of a vessel and then sinks and disappears.

King George V. and his brother, the late Duke of Clarence, when on their cruise in the Bacchante from 1879 to 1882 are stated to have seen the phantom of the Flying Dutchman and the Duke mentioned the fact in his diary under date of July 11, 1881.

A three masted frigate is said to haunt the English channel in the vicinity of the Owner lightship whenever a gale or snowstorm is threatened. Hundreds of people have declared that they have seen the apparition and heard the cries of the ghostly passengers. It is sometimes said to be the phantom of the training ship Eurydice, which went down off the Isle of Wight on March 24, 1878, involving the loss of about 200 lives.—London Standard.

Why Deep Streams Run Still. Deep streams run still—and why? Not because there are no obstacles, but because they altogether overflow these stones or rocks round which the shallow stream has to make its noisy way.—William Smith.

TERRIBLE SORES

No Matter How Chronic, Ed. D. Heckerman Guarantees San Cura Ointment to Give Instant Relief and Permanent Cure.

"My daughter was troubled for over a year with a fever sore on her leg, and was helpless in bed for three months. To the great surprise of all, including the four doctors who had attended her, San Cura Ointment healed the great sore in less than six weeks." J. D. Hood, Townville, Pa.

Karl C. Banks, of the Atlantic Refining Co., of Pittsburgh, had a sore on his ankle for a year. He doctored and tried various remedies, without relief. He says: "San Cura Ointment worked like a charm; reduced the swelling and healed the sore in two weeks."

Bear in mind, that besides sores, San Cura Ointment is guaranteed to cure eczema, boils, carbuncles, salt rheum, tetter, also itching, bleeding and protruding piles. ROOSEVELT BAIT FOR SUFFRAGISTS

Third Term Candidate Was Consistently Their Enemy Till He Needed Their Votes.

COULD HAVE CARRIED OHIO.

But Big Bull Moose Took to the Vermont Woods—Noted Woman Exposes His Change of Front.

By IDA HUSTED HARPER.

The Progressive party had its first opportunity to show its loyalty to the woman suffrage plank in its platform when the vote was taken in Ohio on a new constitution. Forty-two amendments were on the ballot, and all were adopted except the one for woman suffrage!

Ohio is one of the "banner" Progressive states, and Mr. Roosevelt expects to secure its electoral vote. In order to do this a plurality of the electors must be Progressives, and they could therefore have easily carried the suffrage amendment if all the others had voted against it, as the vote on the constitution was very light, only a few hundred thousand out of more than a million who were eligible. Did he issue any orders to this effect? Did he say to his followers: "Now, here is our first chance to show the women that we mean business. Of course if we win in November we will give the franchise to all in the United States, but just now we can make good by giving it to those in Ohio, so let every Progressive vote for the woman suffrage amendment?" Did he do this? On the contrary, he completely ignored the matter, although he passed through Ohio the very day of the election.

A few days before, at St. Johnsbury, Vt., Mr. Roosevelt had devoted a large part of his speech to showing how strongly he believed in the ballot for women and how anxious he was for them to get it. The question was not an issue there or likely to be, but it was a vital issue in Ohio, to be settled in four days, and yet not by spoken or written word did he show to the people of Ohio that he knew of its existence.

Two days after the Progressive party in Ohio permitted the defeat of this amendment its state convention met if any women were elected delegates the press dispatches failed to mention it, and in the platform a woman suffrage plank was conspicuous by its absence. "The Progressive party pledges itself to the task of securing equal suffrage to men and women alike," says its national platform, and Ohio has just given the first example of the way it apparently means to keep that pledge.

In Mr. Roosevelt's second term the suffragists determined to make every possible effort to secure an endorsement from him. As Miss Susan B. Anthony's most eloquent letters to him received no answer, she went in person to see him in November, 1905, just four months before her death. With all her powers of persuasion she pleaded with him to recommend in his forthcoming message some recognition of woman's claim to a voice in the government. Laying her hand on his arm, she looked up into his face and said, "I beg of you to be the emancipator of woman as Lincoln was the emancipator of the slave." He was not resembling Lincoln so much in those days as he is at present, and he remained totally unmoved by her appeals.

Scant Courtesy at White House. Shortly before he left the White House several officers of the National Suffrage association, realizing his great influence on public opinion, made one last effort to have him speak a favorable word. He came into the outside lobby of the executive office, required them to state their business before the crowd waiting to see him and would hardly give them a chance to speak, but kept saying, "Go and get another state." He shrugged his shoulders and turned on his heel, and then they said, "If we will get up a petition of a million names will that influence you?" "No," he replied, "not one particle."

That was in 1909. The next year a letter from him was read at an anti-suffrage meeting in the Berkeley theater, New York, in which he said: "I am very tepid on woman suffrage."

The cause of woman's enfranchisement has no more implacable enemy than the Outlook, and Mr. Roosevelt is on the editorial staff. Last February he had in that magazine a ten column article entitled "Woman's Rights," but the only right considered was that of the suffrage. The article was such an excellent exposition of the attitude of women who do not wish to vote that the Anti-suffrage association ordered copies for distribution. In this article he said again, "In our western states where the suffrage has been granted to women I am unable to see that any great difference has been caused as compared with neighboring states."

And yet just four months after this publication, when Mr. Roosevelt had definitely decided to make the contest for the presidential nomination, all his scruples about forcing suffrage on a hostile and indifferent majority vanished in thin air because a million and a half already had votes and the color wanted them, and he knew they wouldn't stand for any nonsense about a referendum.

State Tuberculosis Exhibit Here.

A view of a portion of the State Sanatorium for tuberculosis, Mont Alto, Pa. The largest tuberculosis Sanatorium in the world. Capacity 1,000 patients.

Yesterday the State Department of Health opened its traveling tuberculosis exhibit at the Court House. This gives the citizens of Bedford an opportunity to gather at first hand an idea of the elaborate campaign being carried on throughout the Commonwealth. This exhibit which has been arranged under the personal supervision of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, the State Health Commissioner, is regarded by the medical profession not alone as an education to those affected by tuberculosis but to every citizen who is interested in any way in the movement to wipe out this dread disease. Every citizen of Pennsylvania has reason to be proud of the work already accomplished in this State toward that end. As this Commonwealth stands foremost among those which have enlisted a trained body of men to carry on the warfare.

There is a variety of interesting features in his elaborate exhibit, and Dr. W. C. Miller, formerly of Bedford, is in charge to explain all of these. One of the interesting sections is a large model of the State Sanatorium at Mont Alto, where over 4,000 patients have been admitted for treatment during the past three years. It will show the model village and other buildings, situated on the top of South Mountain in the beautiful Cumberland Valley. There are at present 800 patients at Mont Alto and an excellent idea of what has been done with the money appropriated to maintain the Sanatorium may be obtained by visiting the exhibit.

One section has been devoted to the work which is carried on in the State laboratory in Philadelphia and Dr. Miller will describe in detail the methods which are used in making examinations. In addition to doing the bacteriological work for all of the one hundred and fifteen tuberculosis dispensaries and for the medical practitioners of the State to whom its services are rendered free of charge, thousands of samples of water gathered by the Department of Health engineers and stream inspectors are tested.

In connection with this section, showing the work of the laboratory are many interesting slides showing tubercle bacilli, typhoid germs, etc.

Lantern slide demonstrations will be given several times each day and the methods employed in the tuberculosis dispensaries, the daily life of the 800 Mont Alto patients, the work of the visiting nurses and various other features of the Department of Health work throughout the State will be graphically illustrated. In addition to the tuberculosis work which is fully illustrated there is much that is instructive in regard to the fight that is going on against preventable disease.

Instructive charts show the results attained by the State's free distribution of diphtheria antitoxin among the poor. What is being done to protect the waters of Pennsylvania from pollution and the work of the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

During the seven days which this interesting exhibit will spend in Bedford, arrangements will be made for the pupils of all schools with their teachers to attend.

As this is one of the most elaborate exhibits of its kind and absolutely free, and as every effort will be made to explain the interesting features to all the visitors, a large attendance is expected.

Dr. Miller will be at the following places this and next week where he will give an illustrated lecture to the schools during the day and to the general public during the evening in the rooms indicated: Today, Friday, Pleasantville; tomorrow, Schellsburg, I. O. O. F. Hall; Monday, October 28, Hyndman, Mullin's Hall; Tuesday, Bedford, Court House; Wednesday, Woodbury; Thursday, Six Mile Run, Mechanics Hall; Friday, Hopewell, Opera House.

A Royal Prank.

The legend that Tavorara is an independent state owes its origin to a royal prank. While making a progress through his dominions in 1836 King Charles Albert reached Terranova, a small port on the northeast coast of Sardinia. Here Paul Bertoleoni was presented to the king as the representative of Tavorara, an island seven miles away. He informed his majesty that all the inhabitants of the island were Bertoleonis and that he was the head of the family. The fisherman bowed his knee as a subject and rose a king, for Charles was so amused that he laughingly gave him sovereignty. Paul I. took the matter seriously, and it became the custom for foreign warships to salute the island to keep up the joke.—London Chronicle.

Weight of a Piece of Ice.

A rough and ready method of calculating the weight of a piece of ice is afforded by the fact that a cubic foot of this substance weighs approximately 57.25 pounds. First measure the breadth, length and height of the cake, and the three results, being multiplied, will give the number of cubic inches. If this answer be in turn multiplied by 0.33 the approximate number of pounds will result. For instance, a cake 8 by 9 by 10 inches contains 720 cubic inches. This multiplied by 0.33 gives 237.6 pounds, the correct weight of such a piece of ice.

Graft in Turkey.

In the days when M. Paul Cambon represented the interests of the French republic at Constantinople Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, who had been touring in eastern Europe, was desirous of giving a dramatic representation at Yildiz kiosk. The sultan was willing and the terms were duly arranged with the keeper of the wardrobe, the worthy pasha who has the control of all entertainments at Yildiz. But the pasha held out his hand for more backsheesh than La Belle Sarah felt inclined to give and so the long looked for representation did not take place. Sarah Bernhardt lost by it $1,000 and the coveted order of the chekakat. Her man, the conjurer, knowing the ropes better than the French actress, squared the keeper of the wardrobe, gave his show and got his thousand pounds.

A Monastic Race Course.

Sandown is the part of Esher that all travelers see from the railway, with the grand stand backed by a fine cluster of dark pines. Among the smaller race courses none is prettier. The estate purchased by a company for the special purpose of horse racing originally belonged to a priory. All the brethren were swept away by the black death about the middle of the fourteenth century and every trace of their monastic buildings has disappeared. Only their memory now remains as a text of warning to thoughtless pleasure seekers.—Westminster Gazette.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

Genuine Merit Required to Win the People's Confidence

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been cured, to those who are in need of it.

In an interview on the subject a prominent local druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows immediate results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

The success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfills every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

A free trial bottle will be sent by mail, absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper. Regular size bottles sold at all druggists—50c and $1.00. Oct. 25-4t. Advertisement.

Your Lungs and Throat.

The preparation mentioned by the Rev. Chas. Sager has been for over sixty years of incontestable worth to sufferers from consumption, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, grippe, coughs, colds and all lung and throat diseases, and is a household remedy in many, many homes to which it has brought health and happiness.

Mr. C. A. ABBOTT, August 11, 1905, 65 Ave. C, New York City: "Dear Sir: I have known for over 40 years of the effects of Wilson's Remedy (Wilson's Preparation of Hypophosphites and Biotin) in cases of pulmonary trouble. At this point I will say to you what you have not before known of, that 25 years ago, while I was a resident of N. Y. City, I was severely ill with lung trouble. Physicians said I was a consumptive and my family physician told my wife that he thought I could not recover. My attention was directed to the Wilson Remedy, which I used with splendid effect. I have been on my feet and at work ever since. Yours truly, REV. CHAS. SAGER, Pastor M. E. Church, Hunter, (Greene Co.) N. Y."

The above letter shows what a great boon the Wilson Remedy was to Mr. Sager, but it is but one of thousands received testifying to the curative powers of this wonderful remedy. Write at once to Mr. Abbott at the above address and he will furnish you convincing proof of the great worth to humanity of this preparation. Advertisement.

UNMASKING THE TARIFF DELUSION

Franklin Pierce Shows That Labor Is Not Benefited by Unjust Tax.

MANUFACTURER KEEPS PROFIT

Proof of Democratic Platform's Soundness Cited in Reports of Wage Investigations.

By FRANKLIN PIERCE.

For a hundred years of our history the manufacturers, believing that they received a benefit from the protective tariffs, have ingeniously devised plausible pretexts for imposing increased prices upon the necessities of life. At first they said that industry in our country was in its infancy and needed protection. When those industries had become strong and needed no aid the manufacturers invented the theory that the foreigner paid the duty. This theory was exploded, and they declared that cheap clothing meant cheap men and was not a blessing.

Driven from every one of these indefensible positions, their final and only argument left today is that the tariff is imposed upon foreign imports to enable the manufacturer to increase his profits and pay higher wages.

The Democratic platform declares that:

"In the most highly protected industries, such as cotton and wool, steel and iron, the wages of the laborers are the lowest paid in any of our industries."

Wages in Cotton Industry.

Under the existing Payne-Aldrich tariff law actual imports of cotton cloth paid in 1910 average duties of 56.4 per cent.

In 1905, when work and wage conditions in the cotton industry were exceptionally good, the wages of 202,211 cotton mill operatives in the United States—men, women and children—averaged only $6.47 a week. The average wage for men was but $7.71 a week, for women $6.30 and for children, $3.21.

As to the profits, seventeen leading cotton mills, with total capitalization of $25,110,000 and total surplus of $21,363,501, paid in nine years dividends averaging 22 per cent.

The cotton manufacturers turned out in 1905 $442,451,218 worth of goods and paid in wages therefor $94,337,695, or 21 per cent of the value of the finished product.

Extortion of Wool Tariff.

Outside of the duties on two or three commodities of comparatively little importance, the duties on woolen cloth are the highest of any in the tariff schedules. According to Senator Reed Smoot, owner of a woolen mill at Prevo, Utah, and chairman of the finance committee in charge of tariff legislation in the senate, wearing apparel valued at 30 cents a pound now pays 206 2-3 per cent duty.

This and other correspondingly high duties on the manufactures of wool are made to enable the manufacturer to pay his labor an increased wage over those of foreign countries. But the duty on woolen goods is nearly five times the entire labor cost, while the American manufacturers in 1905 paid in wages only 18 per cent of the total value of their production.

At Lawrence in this most highly protected industry the laborers were obliged to strike even for a living wage. Thousands of adult males were receiving only from $6 to $9 a week and many only $5 to $6 a week. As a result of the strike the American Woolen company gave its employees slight increases in wages.

The wool tariff bill vetoed by President Taft reduced the duties on raw wool from 42.20 to 29 per cent and on manufactures of wool from 87.65 to 48.36 per cent. Mr. Taft said he vetoed it because the proposed rates did not comply with the findings of the tariff board. Senator La Follette contradicted the president, saying that the proposed rates varied from 1 per cent lower to 11.6 higher than the tariff board's findings justified.

Low Wages in Steel.

Manufacturers of iron and steel in 1905 paid in wages only 15 per cent of the total value of their production, while the duty then would average about 45 to 47 per cent, and on all metals it now averages 34.51 per cent.

American wages are really the cheapest wages in the world when you take into account the amount of production per man.

An illustration of this appears in the Stanley report, investigating the steel trust, as follows:

"The labor cost of producing pig iron in Pennsylvania fell from $1.25 a ton in 1902 to 82 cents a ton in 1909, yet the realized value of the pig iron output was $15.64 in 1902, whereas it was $17.44 in 1909. In other words, wage-workers in 1902 got $1.25 for producing only $15.64 worth of pig iron and in 1909 only 82 cents for producing $17.44 worth."

While thus treating labor the industrial combinations that have grown up under the protection of the tariff have fixed the prices of commodities at the highest point the home market would stand.

When will the laboring men of the country cast off this delusion that the tariff is for their benefit and with their votes strike down this monstrous injustice?

THE MAGNET.

WHY NOT ELECT WOODROW WILSON

Chicago Post, Influential Republican Paper, Asks Its Readers a Leading Question.

FRAUDS OF PRESENT REGIME.

Says the Tariff Has Been Too High For a Generation and Must Be Lowered.

The Chicago Post, an influential independent Republican newspaper, propounds this question to Republicans:

"Why not Wilson?"

"This question is addressed particularly to Republicans. 'Governor Wilson suits the Democrats down to the ground, suits all Democrats who are worthy to be called Democrats. But in an emergency like this, why should not Wilson suit a large part of the Republicans as well?"

"Why not Wilson?" "Governor Wilson is a thoroughbred American gentleman, not only in the accident of birth, but in his every ideal, impulse and principle. That should be the first requirement of every presidential candidate.

"Governor Wilson is a tried and trustworthy executive. His brilliant record as governor of New Jersey proves that.

"Governor Wilson is an eminently sane and sensible man. He is an eminently honorable man. He has dignified every place which he has held. He has performed a splendid public service by lifting the present campaign out of the mire of mudslinging with which Roosevelt began it.

"In every personal characteristic, Governor Wilson is equipped to be any man's president, without regard to whether that man is a Democrat or a Republican. What, then, of his political qualifications?"

"Governor Wilson is and always has been a sensible Democrat, but he is not and never has been a silly, violent partisan.

"Governor Wilson stands for honesty and efficiency in federal administration. So do all save those who profit by graft and inefficiency.

"Governor Wilson stands for the curbing of trusts and monopolies. So do all except monopolists and their defender, Theodore Roosevelt.

"Governor Wilson stands for a prompt and steady downward revision of the tariff. So do nine-tenths of the people of the United States.

"Governor Wilson believes in a more radical tariff revision than do a large number of the rank and file of Republicans. But Governor Wilson is the only candidate who if elected will permit the revision of the tariff at all.

"The tariff has been too high for a generation. Is it not better to take a chance at getting it too low—according to Republican standards—than to let the known frauds of the present regime continue for another four years to rob the public?"

"Why not Wilson? He will give us honest, a dignified, a capable administration. He will respect the constitution. He will see that the tariff is revised downward. He will curb trusts. He will serve the people.

"Why not Wilson?"

FACTS WORTH REMEMBERING.

John D. Archbold, for the Standard Oil company, gave $100,000 to Roosevelt's campaign fund in 1904, but refused to "come across" with $150,000 more, which was demanded.

J. P. Morgan of the steel trust and other interests gave the Roosevelt fund in the same year $100,000, and did give up $50,000 more.

Mr. Roosevelt furiously prosecuted the Standard Oil company, but he refused to prosecute the harvester trust and the steel trust and gave the steel trust permission to absorb its only serious rival.

George W. Perkins of the steel and harvester trusts gave $48,000 of the New York Life Insurance company's money to Roosevelt's campaign fund, and refunded it when the fact became public.

CAMPAIGN MUD ANGERS VETERAN

"Comrade" Editor's Effort to Distort Democratic Position on Pensions Rebuked.

CIRCULAR TO G. A. R. POSTS.

Sought "Means" and "Harsh" Expressions by Wilson Supporters, but Finds Facts the Reverse.

Ignoring the fact that the Democratic house passed the most liberal pension bill in the history of the United States and that it was the Republican senate that reduced the appropriation the editor of the National Tribune of Washington has appealed to grand army posts all over the country to supply campaign material for use against the Democratic party.

Colonel (Sergeant) John McElroy, the editor, has not met always with the co-operation he desired. This is evidenced by the fact that indignant grand army men have forwarded his circular letters to Democratic national headquarters in New York with their protests against the playing of such politics with the old soldiers' organization.

Quest For "Mean" Things. Editor McElroy's appeal was sent out, mimeographed, on the letterhead of the National Tribune, with his own name at the top. The letter read:

Sept. 13, 1912. Comrade—We are anxious to get the expression of editorials on pensions from the papers supporting Wilson in your neighborhood. Will you kindly look over the files of your local papers and send us anything particularly harsh and mean which they have published. We want to show conclusively the attitude of the men who are supporting Wilson and who will control his administration if elected. Please send these at your earliest convenience, as the time is short. Fraternal-ly, THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE.

One of the replies sent to the Tribune was:

Headquarters Cushing Post, No. 14, G. A. R., Astoria, Ore., Sept. 23, 1912. National Tribune, Washington, D. C.:

Gentlemen—Your communication addressed to me as adjutant of Cushing Post, No. 14, of the 17th Inst. I found today on my return from the national encampment at Los Angeles, Cal. Thus the delay in answering.

You wish me to look over the files of our local papers and send you "anything particularly harsh and mean" which they have published regarding pensions. As you have specified that these "harsh" and "mean" comments must be from papers supporting Wilson I must inform you that the papers supporting Wilson throughout the state, so far as I have been able to learn, are friendly toward the interests of the civil war veterans and endorse the action of the Democratic house of the United States congress in its passage of the pension bill in the special and last session of congress and have no fault to find with Senator Kern for his eloquent appeal in the senate in behalf of the civil war veterans.

If you are really looking for "mean" and "harsh" editorials all line, if your object in this search is the interests of the old soldiers, you will find enough "mean" and "harsh" things in the papers that are supporting Mr. Taft. And if you wish to prospect away out here in Oregon (politically) for other than pure gold please excuse the adjutant of Cushing Post, No. 14, department of Oregon, G. A. R., in assisting. B. F. ALLEN.

WHY TAFT OR ROOSEVELT?

Prices of Food Products Have Soared Under Them, Yet They Promise Reductions.

According to the bulletin of the federal bureau of labor the average price of a dozen or more of the principal articles of food has increased 50 per cent in the last ten years.

The price of flour has increased 39 per cent, lard 55 per cent, steak 59 per cent, ham 61 per cent, cornmeal 63 per cent, rib roast 63 per cent, round steak 84 per cent, pork chops 80 per cent, bacon 98 per cent and Irish potatoes 111 per cent.

During these ten years of rising prices Roosevelt and Taft were at the head of the government. Both of them want to be at the head of the government again.

Does any sane man believe that if these men in ten years did nothing to retard the rise of prices which are oppressing the people they would do anything in four years? Rather, judging by the past, we should be paying approximately 25 per cent more than we do now, or 75 per cent more than we did ten years ago.

BROKEN ENGLISH.

Trials of a Frenchman With One of Our Common Verbs.

English is said to be the hardest language in the world to foreigners. This is a broad statement, which might be hard to prove, but certainly it is not the easiest in the world. A professor in an eastern college relates a French friend's trials with our verb "break."

"I begin to understand your language better, but your verbs trouble me still. I saw my friend Mrs. S. just now. She says she intends to break down her school earlier than usual. Am I right there?"

"Break up her school," she must have said.

"Oh, yes, I remember; break up school."

"Why does she do that?" I asked.

"Because her health is broken into."

"Broken down."

"Broken down? Oh, yes! And, indeed, since the fever has broken up in her town."

"Broken out. Will she leave her house alone?"

"No. She is afraid it will be broken—broken. How do I say that?"

"Broken into."

"Certainly. It is what I meant to say."

"Is her son to be married soon?"

"No. That engagement is broken—broken."

"Broken off."—Los Angeles Times.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 25, 1912.

That Woodrow Wilson will be elected President is admitted on all hands. That Taft is not in the running is a foregone conclusion. Evidence conclusive of this is found in the attitude of the Bull Moose papers which are centreing their fire on Mr. Wilson.

THOSE PANICS

The Republican papers persist in charging the panics of the past to the Democratic party.
This is an insult to the intelligence of the American voters. Every student of history knows that the panic of 1873 came when the Republicans were in full control of the government at Washington, and every voter of intelligence knows that the Republican party was in full control of governmental affairs when the panic of 1907 came, from which we have just recovered.
So also is every reading voter aware that what is known as the panic of 1893 came while the Republicans were in power and that the Harrison administration had to borrow gold to tide the government over and keep the reserve up to the required amount until they could get out of office, and that the plates for the bond issue made during the Cleveland administration were prepared before Mr. Cleveland took the oath of office.
Mr. Voter, it is your duty to inquire into these matters if you are not familiar with them and then, by your vote, to place the blame where it belongs—upon the Republican party.

WRIGHT IN THE LIST

For years there have been tenants in Bedford Borough who have refused to pay borough and water taxes, particularly the latter, on their occupations and the taxable articles they possess, on the ground that the landlord pays such taxes on the properties in which they (the tenants) resided.
In 1904 when the matter of tax exonerations came before the Town Council, the following resolution was passed (see page 25 of the present borough minute book):
On motion of Councilmen Horne and Brightbill, Collector Bowser was exonerated from the following taxes.
Reading down over the list, a couple pages beyond the resolution the name J. A. Wright is found, and opposite it is $2 45.
This is a small but an important matter. At that time Mr. Wright was a tenant in the Borough of Bedford and Superintendent of the Schools of the county. His refusal to pay his taxes raises the question—Is he the man to send to Harrisburg to legislate for the state?
Tenants in Bedford are furnished water without charge and enjoy all the other privileges and protection which freeholders enjoy at the expense of the borough—the use of pure water, police protection and the protection afforded by the electric lights on the streets. These advantages are enjoyed by freeholders and tenants alike and the tenants should bear their share of the burden.
These taxes on tenants have been declared legal and there is no reason why one holding one of the most important and honorable positions in the county should be exempt from payment of the same when other tenants who work with the pick and the shovel—earn their bread by the sweat of their face—should be required to pay the same.
That Mr. Wright is a man of ability we do not question, neither do we refrain from acknowledging that he has many good traits, but we do contend that one who is not willing to share the expenses of the protection to life and property afforded by Bedford against fire and burglary by its water system and its lighted streets and its police is not the kind of man to legislate for the state. To say that he is a tax dodger would be putting it too strongly; but the records bear out the assertion that he harbors peculiar and dangerous notions on the subject.
Think of this, freeholders, single men and tenants! Is Mr. Wright

An Estimate of the Candidate by a Representative of the North American Who Formerly Was Employed on the Johnstown Democrat.

Bailey is a political pioneer who pioneered. Away back in 1893 he became inculcated with the doctrine that the people should rule without the aid or consent of any boss or system of bosses. Desiring to take his ideas where there seemed the most need for them he started out from Chicago, came to Johnstown and took charge of The Johnstown Democrat. He is the man who has been running that paper ever since.
When he arrived in this state Bailey had the initiative and referendum ideas, the doctrine of the popular election of United States senators and facts proving that unless there was an immediate scaling of the tariff there would some day be presented to the astonished gaze of the American people a high cost of living problem, all clutched tightly to his bosom.
Truth compels the admission that Bailey's reception among the politicians of this state who later came to know and esteem him was by no means flattering. He was as lonesome then as a Tall standpatter is today. His doctrines were termed "Bailey's crazy notions" and the gangsters tried the isolation cure on him.
Bailey, however, refused to stay isolated and then the gangsters of that day tried kicking him around. As a safe and satisfactory kickee the Johnstown editor was not a success. He had had a long preliminary training in the newspaper game before coming to Johnstown and straightway uncorked an editorial punch that forced even his enemies to admit that his style of fighting was decidedly irritating.
Being a Democrat of the sort that please the bosses only when they (the Democrats, not the bosses) die, Bailey had not been long in the state before he had an animated run-in with the Donnelly-Ryans and their kind. He also became politically unpopular with the bosses in general and their immediate friends. The Johnstown editor declared that while the Donnelly-Ryans and their sort might be allowed to be Democrats they must be overthrown as bosses.
It would be pathetic to tell how many times Bailey was kicked down the political stairs while promulgating his theory that it took more than an oil barrel to make a party that would interest the people. The warring editor was sometimes so far ahead of the Democratic army in this state that he could not march even as an advance guard. He was frequently an insurgent who was insuring all alone. He raised a row about Standard Oil contributions at a time when the row he raised simply marked him as being "peculiar."
Bailey early got the habit of going to Democratic conventions. He marched to those gatherings with the whole set of present-day progressive doctrines neatly typewritten and offered the sheets as planks for the platform. Sometimes the bosses of the party gave Bailey a hearing and sometimes they heard him coming and locked the door where the platform was being written.
Every time he was licked Bailey went back home and wrote sizzling editorials prophesying that the time would come when he would write the epitaph of Bosses and Bossism, the Donnelly-Ryans and Donnelly-Ryanism, Penrose and Penroseism; when the people would everlastingly smash the Penrose-Donnelly-Ryan bi-partisan machine; when the Democratic party would really be Democratic and when his rejected platform planks would become the head of the corner of the Democratic platform temple.
The Johnstown editor was so Democratic, so hopeful and so everlastingly persistent in promulgating his views that people outside of the state began to take notice. Soon the Johnstown Democrat began to be quoted almost everywhere outside and pretty widely inside of the state of Pennsylvania.
Of course Bailey was for Bryan. When Parker came along Bailey told the bosses they could nominate Parker, but they never would be able to elect him. And the day after Parker was defeated he put the line "For president in 1908, William Jennings Bryan," at the head of his editorial columns—where it stayed for four years—and came true.
From the day he arrived in Johnstown Editor Bailey fought free franchises, special privilege and government by bosses in city, county, state and nation.
Time slid by while Bailey was fighting away and in due season it was recognized that instead of being a political moonbeam

MR. WRIGHT'S LETTER

Communication From Legislative Candidate to Chairman Wasson.

We are in receipt of the following communication from J. Anson Wright, which we publish in full as we said we would last week:
Editor of The Gazette,
Bedford, Pa.

Dear Sir:—In an article in your issue of last week, The Gazette intimates its doubt that I had formally declared myself in favor of the proposed advanced legislation set forth in the Republican state platform, and courteously offers to print the facts in the case.

Accepting this invitation, I may be permitted to say that under date of August 19, 1912, I mailed to Republican State Chairman Wasson the following declaration of my attitude with respect to the state platform:
Henry G. Wasson, Esq., Chairman, Republican State Committee, Philadelphia, Pa.

"My Dear Sir:—Replying to your letter enclosing a copy of the Republican state platform and of the separate resolutions in reference to proposed laws in compliance therewith, I would say that I am in accord with the general propositions as laid down in the platform; and, reserving to myself on behalf of the people of Bedford County as their representative to discuss and pass upon the form of same, I favor legislation embodying the provisions outlined in the resolutions."

Very truly,
(Signed) J. Anson Wright.

In acknowledgment of this letter I received from the State Chairman the following telegraphic reply, directed to me:
"Your pledge on state platform at hand. Perfectly satisfactory."
(Signed) Andrew B. Hitchcock, Sec'y. State Committee.

Thanking you for the courtesy of space in your columns, I am
Very truly,
J. Anson Wright.

In the above it will be observed that Mr. Wright is "in accord with the general propositions as laid down in the platform," but he reserves practically everything to himself. It will be noted that this communication was sent to Chairman Wasson of the Republican State Committee, as called for in the resolutions adopted at Harrisburg. But it will be remembered that the Washington cut loose from the Republicans at

STEEL TRUST BACK OF T. R. TRUST PLAN

Charge Challenged, Gov. Wilson Returns With Prompt and Convincing Answer.

COUNTRY WAITED FOR CLASH.

Wondered if It Was to Produce a Parallel of Parker Episode—More Proof if It Is Wanted.

When the country read on the morning of Oct. 8 the charge of Woodrow Wilson before his audiences in Colorado that the steel trust is back of the Roosevelt program of trust regulation and in the same papers Colonel Roosevelt's demand for proof of the assertion it sat up and took notice. Would this produce a parallel of the famous episode of the 1904 campaign, when the colonel called Judge Parker a liar for asserting (what has been so recently proved) that the corporations were contributing to the Roosevelt campaign?

There was eager waiting for Governor Wilson's answer. It came promptly the next day in his speech at Kansas City. Concisely, convincingly and dispassionately Governor Wilson met the Roosevelt challenge, and should the controversy be pressed further the Democratic candidate will give the bull moose all he wants, for the corroboration whereof he spoke is abundant.

Wilson's Charge.

At Pueblo, the center of the western steel industry, Governor Wilson said: "Evidence of what I am about to say comes to me by way of corroboration every day in forms that I cannot question. It is a very interesting circumstance that the United States Steel corporation is behind the third party program with regard to the regulation of the trusts.

"Now, I do not say that to prejudice you. I am perfectly ready to admit that the officers of that corporation may think that the third party is the best thing for the United States. That is not my point. My point is that these gentlemen have grown up in the atmosphere of the things they themselves have created and that the laws of the United States so far have attempted to destroy the things that they have created and that they now want a government which will perpetuate the things they have created.

"You therefore have to choose now a government such as the United States Steel corporation thinks the United States ought to have or a government such as we used to have before these gentlemen succeeded in setting up private monopoly."

Roosevelt's Challenge.

The same night at Albany, N. Y., Colonel Roosevelt upon reading reports of Governor Wilson's speech said:

"As far as I know the statement has not the slightest foundation in fact. Mr. Wilson has no business to make such a statement unless he has the proof, and if he has any proof I demand that he make it public immediately. If he has not let him retract his statement as the only manly and honorable thing to do."

Wilson's "Retort Courteous."

The next night Governor Wilson made this reply before the great audience that greeted him in Kansas City:

"I understand from the newspaper reports that Mr. Roosevelt was distressed by my suggestion the other day that the United States Steel corporation was back of his plan for controlling the trusts. He interpreted my remark to mean that they were supporting him with their money. I was not thinking about money.

"I do not know whether they are supporting him with their money or not. It does not make any difference. What I meant was that they are supporting him with their thought, and their thought is not our thought. I meant, and I say again, that the kind of control which he proposes is the kind of control that the United States Steel corporation wants.

"I am perfectly willing to admit that they think it is the best for the country. My point is that this is a method conceived from the point of view of the very men who are to be controlled and that that is just the wrong point of view from that to conceive it.

"If Mr. Roosevelt is willing to have Mr. Perkins suggest how the corporations ought to be regulated why will he not be willing to take suggestions from the same quarters as to the details of the regulation? Mark you, ladies and gentlemen, I am not discussing individuals. I know Mr. George Perkins. I have no quarrel with anything except his judgment. He does not look at these things in the way men who do not wish to accustom their minds to monopoly look at them."

There should be an immediate revision of the tariff downward. It should begin with the schedules most obviously used to kill competition and raise prices in the United States, and should be extended to every item which affords opportunity for monopoly and special advantage until special favors shall have been absolutely withdrawn and our laws of taxation transformed from a system of governmental patronage into a system of just and reasonable charges, which shall fall where they will create the least burden.

Tonic—Alternative

What is a "tonic"? A medicine that increases the strength or the tone of the whole system. What is an "alternative"? A medicine that alters or changes unhealthy action to healthy action. Name the best "tonic and alternative"? Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol. Ask your doctor about it.

Bilious attacks, sick-headaches, indigestion, constipation, dizzy spells—these are some of the results of an inactive liver. Ask your doctor if he endorses Ayer's Pills in these cases. The dose is small, one pill at bedtime.

PEEPING INTO SPACE.

An Illustration That Shows the Vastness of Stellar Depths.

Go dig a hole in the ground and set a post five or six feet high. Nail a stick across the top. Tie a fine string to a ring three inches in diameter and suspend it from the end of the stick.

Break up a diamond—if you make the error of wearing one and centering your mind on the useless bauble rather than upon nature and her majestic laws; select a minute fragment so small that if spherical seventy-one side by side would make a row one inch long and suspend the tiny globe by means of a fine fiber of silk in the center of the ring.

Then walk away on a straight line 9.31 miles, turn around and look back. The ring would be invisible, and it would require the keenest eye to see the post, if indeed any could see it.

Get a good telescope and you might just see the ring against the sky on a white background, but the diamond would be invisible.

Come up here, get the sixteen inch telescope, try it, and the diamond sphere could not be seen. Go get a forty or sixty inch telescope, still the diamond would not come into view.

Then get a 3,000,000 candle power electric arc searchlight and by means of a big lens concentrate the light on the diamond. Then a much smaller telescope would reveal it.

Go to the giant star sun, Sirius, the dog star. Take a very large telescope with you, turn around and look back this way.

Then the orbit of the earth, a ring 186,000,000 miles in diameter, would appear to be as three inches in diameter viewed from 9.31 miles, and the sun as the one seventy-first of an inch in diameter—Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

Mrs. Paul Wehling, 316 Smith St., Peoria, Ill., had kidney and bladder trouble, with terrible backache and pain across the hips. Just imagine her condition. She further says: "I was also very nervous, had headaches and dizzy spells, and was fast getting worse when I took Foley's Kidney Pills, and now all my troubles are cured. Foley's Kidney Pills have done so much for me I shall always recommend them." Ed D. Heckerman.

LIVED UP TO THE TEXT.

It Made a Deep Impression on Little Ju's, and She Did Her Best.

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares."

The foregoing quotation is from chapter xiii, verse 2, book of Hebrews, and it is introduced solely because it constitutes a vital part of this story. Julia is ten years old, and she goes to Sunday school. It appears that on a recent occasion the Sunday school teacher had considerable to say about this matter of "entertaining angels unawares." Anyway, it made a deep impression on Julia.

A few days after the lesson Julia's mother left her in charge of the house for a few hours. When the mother returned she went to a particular cup in the cupboard to extract therefrom a half dollar. In this cup is kept the family pin money, and Julia's mother knew that she had put 50 cents there before she had gone out. But the half dollar was gone. There was an expression of anxiety on Julia's face, and mother scented mischief.

"Did you take that money?" asked the mother, somewhat severely.

Julia broke into tears. "I gave it to a man that came to the back door," sobbed the little girl.

"Gave it to a man?" exclaimed the mother.

"I thought he might be an angel unawares," replied Julia.—Kansas City Star.

LIGHT ON ANCIENT PANIC ARGUMENT

History Demolishes Republican Claim That Democrats Make Hard Times.

1893 WAS UNDER HIGH TARIFF

Every Panic Since the Civil War Has Been a Republican Panic—Lessons From 1907 Upheaval.

The enemies of Democracy are making their anticipated and regularly recurring howl—they are predicting hard times if Woodrow Wilson is elected president on a Democratic tariff revision platform.

The Republicans are claiming all credit for present prosperity.

A glance backward will be worth while at this time.

Every panic since the civil war originated and developed under Republican rule.

The Republican campaign textbook of 1904 devoted much space to the many business disasters occurring from July, 1893, to November, 1894, intending the public to attribute them to the inauguration of President Cleveland in March, 1893. But the Republicans fail to refer to the fact that the Republican tariff law was in force during more than twelve of the sixteen months of greatest business disasters. This fact must be remembered—the McKinley tariff bill became a law Oct. 6, 1890, and the first indications of the 1893 panic were seen Nov. 11, 1890, scarcely more than thirty days after the McKinley law was passed, and the panic reached its worst stage in 1893 and early in 1894, during which time the McKinley law was in full force.

Millions Lost Their Jobs.

It may be recalled, too, that the panic of 1873 under Republican rule and in a period of twelve years of high tariff taxation, was most disastrous. It continued five years, 3,000,000 workmen were thrown out of employment and bankruptcy ran riot.

In 1890 the McKinley high tariff bill was passed, and there were 10,673 failures, followed by 12,304 in 1891. The tariff was raised to nearly 50 per cent, but wages stood still or declined while the cost of necessities advanced.

The most serious labor troubles in the history of the United States have occurred under Republican high tariffs.

Some Lessons From 1907.

The Republican panic of 1907 furnished another forceful refutation of the Republican claim that Democratic administration and hard times, lower tariffs and panics have been co-existing.

In 1907, in the midst of prosperity, thousands of leading banks, with hundreds of millions on deposit, suspended cash payments. The trouble began as a result of a struggle between great New York financial institutions for business.

The New York Post in October, 1907, said:

Condemn Themselves.

"The certain and significant thing is that it will be known as a Republican and high tariff panic. Protest as Republicans may, they will be held responsible. Out of their own mouths the Republican party and the Dingleyites will stand condemned. They fixed in 1896 the standard by which they cannot escape being judged. In the party platform of that year they referred to the panic of 1893, and the hard times following, squarely to charge up the entire accountability to the party in control of the national government, and the political inference was stated with merciless logic:

"Every consideration of public safety and individual interest demands that the government be rescued from the hands of those who have shown themselves incapable of conducting it."

"Now, what are the Republicans going to do when the Democrats hand them back their poisoned chalice? * * * A great emergency has come and the high tariff is seen to be of no avail whatever. It was to keep us all rich and prosperous."

"Because the country has just got over the results of a Republican panic the president and his friends are urging us to perpetuate the Republican administration," says the Philadelphia Record.

Business Depression.

"As soon as business was checked five years ago the steel corporation, which was encouraged by Mr. Roosevelt to swallow the Tennessee concern, then its most formidable potential competitor, drew its fires and threw about half its workmen out of employment. Other industries did much the same thing. * * * There was an extensive stoppage of mills in Philadelphia.

"The Republican candidate for congress in the Kensington-Richmond district is using the 'soup houses of 1893' as a means of scaring the wage earners from voting the Democratic ticket. Those soup houses existed under the McKinley tariff. But there have been more recent ones. After 1907 there were soup houses in the Kensington-Richmond district, and everybody who was charitably disposed was begged for contributions to feed the people who were out of employment."

After any Sickness

nothing so rapidly restores health and vigor as SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is the essence of natural body-nourishment, so medically perfect that nature immediately appropriates and distributes it to every organ, every tissue—feeding, nourishing and restoring them to normal activity.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is not a patent medicine, but is nature's body-nourishment with curative, upbuilding properties and without a drop of drug or alcohol. It contains superior cod liver oil, the hypophosphites of lime and soda with glycerine, and is so delicately emulsified that it enters the system without digestive effort—builds, tones and sustains.

After croup, whooping cough, measles and other child ailments it is nature's ally in restoring health.

After grippe or pneumonia it imparts strength and health, and for colds, coughs, sore, tight chests and throat troubles SCOTT'S EMULSION gives the greatest relief known.

IT WAS NAPOLEON.

The Bey Finally Recognized Him and Won a Compliment.

One afternoon the bey of Tunis while visiting in Paris was conducted to the gallery of battle pictures. They first showed to him Philip Augustus at Bouvines.

"That's Napoleon I., isn't it?" said the bey.

"No," said M. de Nolhac, "that is not Napoleon I., but, quite the same, a great warrior."

They passed to St. Louis, who, on the bridge of Taillebourg, was battling like the Archangel Michael himself.

"That's Napoleon I.?" queried the bey with a wink of the eye.

"No," said M. de Nolhac.

They arrived at Henri IV., who was carrying bread to the besieged Parisians.

"Napoleon I.?"

"No; that's Henry IV."

The bey was visibly disappointed. They skipped Louis XIV. and XV. and passed quickly to the wars of the empire. They stopped before the battle of Austerlitz.

"Napoleon I.?" said the bey.

"Yes," said M. de Nolhac. "How your highness has recognized it! How admirable that is! Ah, truly, your highness knows the history of France marvelously well."—Cri de Paris.

Reducing a Pound to Nothing.

In what form is lead lightest on the scales? A British scientist has attempted to tell how to make the proof, but it isn't the easiest thing in the world either to prepare the pound of lead or place it in position for the proof. He says that making 1,000 small balls of the pound of lead the weight remains the same though the surface is greatly increased. Then reduce the small balls into 1,000,000 balls, with the surface enormously increased, but the balls still weigh the one pound in the scales. But this scientist says that if these 1,000,000 shot particles further are reduced to one twenty thousandth of an inch each, they will rest in the atmosphere just where they are placed. This for the reason that that pressure of light from the sun exactly overcomes the forces of gravitation. To make the lead bits smaller, however, the scientist says that the sun light seizes them and hurles them into space.

Hindu Moon Lore.

According to the Hindus, a lunar eclipse is the contact between the moon and another planet called Rahoo, but the masses believe that, owing to the will of God, Rahoo, or the serpent like planet, catches hold of the moon by its hideous mouth and releases it after a short time. At first contact the Hindus bathe in the sea and anxiously await the release. After the contact they take another bath. During the interval they are not allowed even to drink a cup of water, as their belief is that all things in the world get polluted during the contact.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson IV.—Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 27, 1912.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark vii, 31, to viii, 10—Memory Verses, 24, 35—Golden Text, Mark vii, 37—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Departing from the region of Tyre and Sidon, where He had comforted the mother's heart and honored and commended her faith, He returned to the sea of Galilee, a journey of forty or fifty miles, but nothing is said of the journey. How little we think of His long walks from one part of the country to another. It is easy to travel in our day, and there is a vast amount of it done, but very few do it on foot and for Him, yet I do know some missionaries who are very like Him in this respect. Verses 32 to 37 of our lesson are recorded only by Mark and tell of the healing of a deaf and dumb man. Some are dumb because they cannot speak and others are dumb because they will not speak.

It is sometimes wise for those who can both hear and speak to be as if they were both deaf and dumb (Ps. xxxviii, 13). Too many are dumb because they do not feel constrained to speak. Their remedy may be found in Ps. xxxix, 3; Ezek. xli, 17; Jer. xx, 8, 9. If any are inclined to feel slowness of speech or the inefficiency of youth they may be helped by Ex. iv, 12; Jer. i, 7-9. All need that which our Lord commended in Acts i, 8; see a result in Acts iv, 81. All may come unto Him, and He knows at once a right way for each. His way with this particular man was unique, but it must have been the right way for him. He took him aside from the multitude. He often takes us aside that He may cause us to hear or see or know something He could not otherwise teach us. It is blessed to be taken aside with Him. I like the verse which says that "we should live together with Him" (I Thess. v, 10). We have read of many being healed by touching Him or the hem of His garment, but see His fingers on this man's ears and tongue, and instantly he could hear and speak plainly. Was the power in His touch or in the words "Be opened," or in both? More important for me to be able to say that He hath touched me and hath opened my ears, and taught me to say "He hath done all things well."

Just here the records that He went up into a mountain and sat down, and great multitudes came to Him bringing the lame, blind, dumb, maimed and others and cast them at His feet, and He healed them, and they glorified the God of Israel (Matt. xv, 30, 31). When Israel came out of Egypt there was not one feeble among their tribes, and when the kingdom comes the inhabitant shall not say, "I am sick." "There shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain." "They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them nor any heat" (Ps. cv, 37; Isa. xxxviii, 24; xlix, 10; Rev. vii, 16; xxi, 4). Do you wonder that Jesus told them of such a kingdom as He fed them and healed them? What can we think of those who know of such a kingdom and are doing nothing to make it known to others who might be glad to become inheritors of it if they only knew about it and knew how to become heirs to it?

Returning to the record in Mark, we read that the multitude had been with Him three days with nothing to eat, and some had come long distances, so He had compassion upon them and said to the disciples, "If I send them away fasting they will faint by the way." Did He really care and does He care if we are faint and weary? Oh, yes, He cares! I know He cares. It matters to Him even about sparrows, and he clothes the lilies. The disciples seem surprised at His remarks and ask, "Whence can a man satisfy these with bread here in the wilderness? Well, that depends upon the man. An ordinary man could not, but who is this man? Had they forgotten that so recently they had taken food from His hands to more than 6,000 people and had seen Him control and subdue a great storm? Yes, it is the old story of Ps. lxxviii: 'They forgot His works and His wonders that He had showed them. They said, Can God furnish a table in the wilderness?' Having ascertained that they had seven loaves and a few small fishes, He took them and gave thanks and broke them and gave to the disciples to set before the people, and they did all eat and were filled.

He took what they had and used it as on the former occasion, though He might have rained it from Heaven (Ps. lxxviii, 24). The poor widow had a pot of oil, and He multiplied that. Another widow had a little meal and oil and He multiplied that. He can create out of nothing, but He seems to love to take what we have and increase it. He wants it all given over to Him, as these and the lad gave all into His hands, as He Himself gave up all for us. He has provided a full and complete eternal redemption which He gives freely to every one willing to receive Him. Then He asks those who have received Him, and to whom He has given all, to forsake all that they have that they may become His disciples (Rom. vi, 23; John i, 12; Luke xiv, 33), to be used by Him as He will. He is all fullness, the fullness of the God head bodily, and we may be filled by Him for the benefit of others (Col. i, 10; ii, 9, 10).

WOMEN TAKE NOTICE!

A man cannot understand the torture and suffering many women endure uncomplainingly. If the majority of men suffered as much pain and endured with patience the weakening sicknesses that most women do, they would ask for immediate sympathy and look for a quick cure.

Many women have been saved from a life of misery and suffering by turning to the right remedy—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy which is safe to take because containing no narcotics, alcohol or injurious ingredients. It is an alternative extract of roots, made with pure glycerin, and first given to the public by that famous specialist in the diseases of women—Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. LIZZIE M. HESSEIMER, of Lincoln, Neb., 529 "C" St., says: "I send a testimonial with much pleasure so that some suffering woman may know the true worth of your remedies. I was a great sufferer from female troubles but after taking one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which a friend advised me to take, I found myself very much improved. After taking three more bottles, and using two boxes of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets, I found myself on the road to recovery. I was in poor health for five years but now I am cured."

"I hope all women suffering from female weakness will give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a fair trial."

REBECCA'S WEAVING

A Story of Little River

By CLARISSA MACKIE

In the weaving shed under the walnut tree, Rebecca Oswald sat with idle hands before the big loom. There was a pungent smell of green walnuts and the peculiar odor of rankly growing hollyhocks that latticed the window with fluted pink cups.

Rebecca's lips were curved in a bitter smile as she dreamed in the mellow gloom of the shed. Her slender form, erect and motionless, was sharply outlined against the light.

Within the shed everything was immaculately clean and fresh with the penetrating odor of cedar shingles. The big loom filled one end of the room with its massive framework, and in the corners were rolls of rag carpet and several baskets filled with bright hued rag strips.

Maria Oswald paused in the doorway, her round eyes peering sharply at her sister's tense profile. "Rebecca, what the land are you doing?" she asked sharply.

Rebecca started and turned her head. "I wasn't doing anything, Maria. I was resting awhile."

The older sister advanced and sat down in a chair near the loom; her keen eyes searched Rebecca's sensitive face and her own reddened with indignation. "I saw Ida Benjamin's boy coming out of the gate. What did he want?" she demanded.

"He brought some rags; his mother wants some mats made—for Edna," said Rebecca quietly.

"Of course you won't make them," protested Maria.

"I must—if I don't, Ida will say it because of Edna marrying Myron."

"If that ain't just like Ida Benjamin—the spitefullest critter that ever drew breath! Why didn't she take the rags down to Peterkin?" Suddenly Maria's disturbed countenance became an urbane mask. "Don't you dare cry, Rebecca Oswald," she added fiercely; "she's coming now!"

A shadow darkened the doorway, and Ida Benjamin entered. She was a tall, strongly built woman, with colorless hair rolled stiffly away from her sallow skinned face. Cold blue eyes were set unpleasantly close to a prominent nose hooked above a bitter mouth. She carried herself with the proud insolence of one whose weapons are always unheathed. Ida Benjamin's keenest weapon of attack and defense lay behind the even rows of her false teeth. Now she rustled forward with an amplitude of starched skirts.

"Busy as a bee, Rebecca. I declare you're always at it, ain't you? I'll take this chair, Maria. You needn't get up." She beamed amiably upon the sisters.

Rebecca removed her foot from the treadle and turned to the newcomer. "Bobbie brought the rags, Ida. What color warp do you want?"

"White, I guess. Do you think you can get them done by the 1st of October? They are for Edna's new house and"—She paused significantly.

"Why not take them down to Peterkin? He's starving for work, and Rebecca's got all she can do," interposed Maria acidly.

"I want nobody but Rebecca should touch them," protested Ida Benjamin. "Being Edna's wedding outfit, they are very special, and Rebecca makes such pretty mats."

"Very well, Ida; I can make them. There's plenty of time before the 1st of October. Tell me how you want them made," said Rebecca quietly.

While the two women discussed the making of the rugs—or "mats," as they are called in Little River—Maria arose and silently left the weaving shed.

Alone with Rebecca Oswald, Mrs. Benjamin dropped the ball of rags she had been displaying to the weaver and leaned back in her chair. "Well, Rebecca, I hope you don't hold any hard feeling toward me and Edna," she said, with a malicious smile.

"We never have been intimate friends, Ida; you know that," said Rebecca proudly, "but why do you imagine that I should feel any special animosity toward you now?"

For an instant Ida Benjamin's sallow face reddened; then, as if Rebecca's question offered an opening for which she had long waited, the color left her cheeks sallow and strained, and she spoke coldly and deliberately:

"You needn't pretend you don't mind losing Myron White after keeping company with him for five years. Of course he's older than Edna, but the very minute he set eyes on her he lost his heart. You can't blame him, Rebecca; Edna's so young and fresh, and you—and me, too—are not as young as we used to be. There; you needn't red den up and look so proud, Rebecca. You might as well look the truth in the face as to pretend you don't care."

"Have you got anything more to say?" asked Rebecca icily.

Ida Benjamin hesitated. An eager question had burned her tongue for five years. To her coarse grained mind there was no indecency in the asking of such a question, but she did shrink from Rebecca's answer. She felt instinctively that Rebecca Oswald would speak nothing but the truth. Her eagerness now found vent in the question.

"Sarah Quigley says that years ago, before I married Jonah Benjamin, he courted you and wanted to marry you."

I told her it wasn't so and that he never appeared to like you, but just the same it spoiled all my mourning for him. I haven't been to the cemetery since she told me that. Did he ask you to marry him?" Ida Benjamin's voice sank to a low tone of bitter anguish, and her harsh face was distorted with an effort for control. She leaned forward, her eyes fixed on Rebecca's face.

"That's why you've been so hateful to me the last five years—because you're jealous of that?" asked Rebecca pityingly.

The other woman flared fiercely. "I'm not jealous, not a mite, but I can't have it that way."

Now the power was in Rebecca's hands. She could flay Ida Benjamin's suffering heart with a detailed account of how the defunct Jonah had in his youth wooed her. His doglike devotion, his obstinate refusal to take "no" for an answer, had been a village jest. These facts were weapons in Rebecca's hands. With them she might avenge herself upon this woman who had deprived her of the man she loved and destroyed her happiness through some long cherished jealousy.

Ida Benjamin was waiting for Rebecca's answer, hoping it would be a denial that she might carry forth to confound her fellow busybodies, with whom she waged alternate war and peace and in whose midst reputations were won and lost in an hour.

All at once Rebecca seemed to see down into Ida Benjamin's sordid little soul, and a revulsion of feeling swept over her. A strange light came into her eyes as she looked at the woman standing there so curiously subdued and expectant, suffering tortures of jealousy, and she was filled with pity.

Then it was that Rebecca Oswald spoke to her enemy and told her first lie. "Jonah came to see me a few times, Ida, but I guess he got tired of me. I want you to hear in mind he never asked me to marry him." Rebecca was quite pale when she concluded.

The other woman sighed relievedly. Her head went up with her accustomed insolence. "I never believed a word of it, Rebecca. I knew Sarah Quigley was lying. I suppose you're willing to repeat that before her?"

"I think I have said enough," replied Rebecca wearily. The sunshine had faded from the pond, and the shadows seemed reflected in her face.

"I'll have to be going now," Mrs. Benjamin stood in the doorway looking down at the weaver, a curious hesitancy in her harsh voice and a strange expression mingled with the triumph in her hard eyes. It was almost as if she felt sorry for Rebecca Oswald.

When Rebecca was alone she stared through the lattice of hollyhocks with a strange sense of desolation. It had been a hard day. The pressure of humiliation had been strong upon her, and she had suffered. All at once she beat her fists upon the window sill with a little fury of despair. "It isn't fair and just," she sobbed. After awhile she arose and closed the window. Touching the loom with one slender hand, she looked down at the maze of purple warp blurring before her eyes.

"I suppose people's lives are like rag carpet—some's plain, some's striped and others are just 'bit or miss,' with lots of bright colors. Mine's been in stripes, with lots of gray and black in between for trouble. I guess it has stopped now just as I was beginning a beautiful stripe, thinking all the rest of the carpet was going to be that rosy color. But I've got to keep on weaving. It'll be drab colored for awhile until I get some sense into me." She dashed away the tears and straightened proudly. "I've got to weave those mats for Ida Benjamin. I've got to make them so as to pay me back for telling that lie."

The door flew open with startling suddenness, and Myron White stood there, handsome, black eyed and with black brows meeting in a heavy frown. His attitude was one of mingled shame and defiance.

"Rebecca, Maria was down to the store, and she told me that Ida Benjamin had brought mats for you to make. Where are they—here?" At Rebecca's nod of assent Myron bent down and swept Mrs. Benjamin's bags of rag balls into his arms and deposited them in a wheelbarrow he had left outside the door. Then he came back and faced Rebecca in the gathering gloom of the weaving shed.

"I'm a doggoned fool," he said, bitterly. "I've gone and cut myself off from the only woman I ever wanted to marry just because—oh, I've got to tell it so's to do right by you, Rebecca. You know I was getting up courage to ask you to marry me when Ida Benjamin got after me. I don't know what she meant by it, but she said Edna was dying for love of me. Well, what could I do? When Maria told me you was going to weave mats for us I just made up my mind I'd be a man, so I've been and told little Edna all about it—that if you won't have me I don't care whether anybody else does or not. And she was just as glad as I was—said she was planning to elope with Lance Wayland anyway, and she said she hated me and my old rag mats. I can't trust myself to talk to Ida Benjamin, but I won't have you making mats for her. I hope you'll forgive me for all the trouble. I guess you never want to see me again." He turned and walked dispiritedly toward the door. "I don't suppose I deserve you should forgive me," he added.

Rebecca's eyes were heavy with unshed tears. She who had patiently taken up the weaving of her drab future suddenly found her weft was rose and gold. All at once her restored happiness found utterance in broken words:

"Myron, I shall never—forgive you if you go away now."

Prussic Acid in Plants.

The remarkable fact that considerable quantities of free prussic acid are accumulated in the living tissues of certain plants was observed by the late Dr. M. Treub, and there appears to be little doubt that this poisonous acid is actually utilized as food material by these plants. Some interesting details concerning the occurrence and function of prussic acid in the cherry laurel are given by Peche, who concludes from his observations that the prussic acid found in the leaves and other organs is produced as a direct result of carbon assimilation in the green leaf cells when exposed to light and that it is not merely a product of the hydrolysis of glucosides. Peche found evidence that while part of the prussic acid enters into the building up of glucosides some of it is transported in a labile form, probably in loose combination with a tannin, and is stored up in various tissues as a reserve food—Nature.

The Early Trusts.

Trusts were sometimes dealt with summarily in old England. For instance, the records of the Brewers' company show that "on Monday, July 30, 1422, Robert Chichele, the mayor of London, sent for the masters and twelve of the most worthy of our company to appear at the guildhall for selling dear ale. After much dispute about the price and quantity of malt, wherein Whittington, the late mayor, declared that the brewers had ridden into the country and forestalled the malt, to raise its price, they were convicted in the penalty of £20, which objecting to the masters were ordered to be kept in prison in the chamberlain's custody until they should pay it or find security for the payment thereof."

NOTICE

In re condemnation proceedings by The Huntingdon and Broad Top Mountain Railroad and Coal Company, in the construction of a branch railroad, beginning at a point on its main line between Everett and Mount Dallas stations, in Bedford County, Pa., and running thence in a westerly direction across the Raystown Branch of the Juniata River to a point at or near Earlston Furnace in the same county. Notice is hereby given in pursuance of the Act of Assembly in such case made and provided that on Wednesday, October 23, 1912, the Court of Common Pleas of Bedford County, Pa., on the application of The Huntingdon and Broad Top Mountain Railroad and Coal Company, setting forth that it has located and marked a route for a branch railroad extending from a point on its main line near Mt. Dallas Station, in Bedford County, Pa., in a westerly direction across the Raystown Branch of the Juniata River to a point at or near Earlston Furnace, in the same county, and desired to take and appropriate for the purposes and usages of said company, two pieces, parcels and strips of ground on opposite sides of said Raystown Branch of the Juniata River, and situate in West Providence Township, Bedford County, Pa., one thereof (No. 1) containing 762-1000 of an acre and the other (No. 2) containing 679-1000 of an acre, being parts of a tract of land known as the Scott, Russell, Gratz, Posey, Tice and Seymour or Yellow House tract, appointed George W. Cunard, Levi Smith and Howard Cossin, viewers to view the said premises, on Friday, the 12th day of November, A. D. 1912, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., and to have a hearing in said proceeding at 11 o'clock a. m. on said 12th day of November, 1912, at the office of George W. Ritchey, Esq., Everett, Pa., and prepare and file a report showing inter alia the damage or benefits assessed.

Notice is further given that on the 13th day of September, 1912, said Court approved a bond to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the use of the persons interested in said land and directed the same to be filed.
